

Journey back in time...

There's a saying: "Making everything old new again." That's what you get at the Geneva Lake Museum, one of Wisconsin's premiere regional museums. Visitors can walk the brick-paved street of yesteryear, lined with the homes and businesses to be found in the lake area from 1830 to 1930. Walk through those doors, to see and touch what made up everyday life in those days. Trains, cars, boats, fire engine — it's all there, full size or in miniature. From great earlier architecture to the history of the lake itself. From classrooms and movies of old, to Yerkes Observatory, to the Playboy resort, to a Frank Lloyd Wright Hotel, to Native American dwellings, to a typical farm and blacksmith shop. Visit the museum store for Geneva Lake treasures to take home. Our merchandise is being constantly updated and there is no admission fee to the store. Enjoy the free parking, too.
